MELCOME I'm so glad you're here!

Hi there! My name is Aly, but my favorite people call me Mrs. Franklin! I am a middle school resource room teacher in Michigan. I spend my time teaching special education math intervention classes, cotaught math intervention classes, and coteaching 6th, 7th, and 8th grade math classes!

My goal with creating Middle School in the Mitten was to share engaging and time saving resources and ideas with busy, world changing teachers like you! All of the activities that are found in my Teachers Pay Teachers store were created for and used with my own students. In fact, I began my TPT journey in 2017, when I shared my first few sets of digital task cards that I was creating for my caseload students!

Thank you for your download and support!
I created this activity to use with my own classes on our first day back from winter break. I hope they make your transition back to school a little easier!

If you have any questions, please feel free to send me an email at middleschoolinthemitten@gmail.com, and I will try my best to help!

TYPES OF NEW YEARS RESOLUTIONS

TYPES OF MODERN NEW YEARS RESOLUTIONS

There are many ways to set goals and plan for the new year, and three popular methods are New Year's resolutions, the One Word trend, and the Bingo Card trend. Each one is a little different, so you can choose the one that works best for you!

New Year's resolutions are specific promises you make to yourself to improve or try something new. For example, you might say, "I will turn in all my homework on time," or "I will read 10 books this year." Resolutions work well if you like clear, detailed goals that you can check off once you've accomplished them. However, they can sometimes feel overwhelming if the goal is too big, so it's helpful to break your resolutions into smaller steps, like "read one book each month."

The One Word trend is simpler and more flexible. Instead of making a list of specific goals, you choose one word to focus on for the entire year, such as "kindness," "focus," or "confidence." This word acts like a guide or theme for how you want to live or grow. For school, you might pick "organization" to remind yourself to keep your desk and backpack tidy, or "effort" to motivate you to always try your best in class and on assignments. This method is great if you prefer a broad idea that can apply to different areas of your life.

The Bingo Card trend turns goal-setting into a game, making it fun and creative. You start by making a bingo card with 25 squares and filling each square with a small, achievable goal. These could include "study for a test for 30 minutes," "help a classmate," "try a new hobby," or "memorize my multiplication tables." As you complete each goal, you mark it off. The challenge is to get a bingo by completing a row, column, or diagonal, but some people like to challenge themselves to fill the whole card! This method works well if you enjoy variety and want to try many different things throughout the year.

All three methods help you think about what you want to accomplish, but they do it in different ways. Resolutions are great if you like specific targets to aim for, One Word is ideal if you want a guiding theme, and Bingo Cards are fun for trying lots of smaller goals. Which one will you choose to make your year the best it can be?

| STEP 2: NARROW IT DOWN  Look at your list and circle 3-5 words that feel most important to you. For each of the remaining words, ask yourself: Does this word inspire me? Can it guide me in different areas of my life? Cross out words that do not.  Choose one word that feels meaningful and motivating and write it here: |                       |                       |                       |                 |

ONE WORD RESOLUTION

STEP 3: PLAN HOW TO USE YOUR WORD

Set Goals: Think about how your word applies to school, home, and personal growth. Jot a list of ways you could show this word in your actions or words. Try to get at least two or three ideas in each section.

| How my word applies to school: | How my word applies to home: | How my word applies to my personal growth: | Other ways my word applies to my life: |
|                                |                              |  |  |

STEP 4: USE IT!

Now, write your word on a notecard, paper, or poster. Decorate it and put it somewhere you will see it and think about your goals each day, like in your binder, locker, or bedroom.

It can be helpful to talk about your word and goals with people close to you, like your family or friends. They can help keep you motivated and on track!

Then, check in with yourself each month to think about how your word is helping you grow. Adjust your goals if needed.

Celebrate small victories and keep track of the times that your focus word helps you succeed. At the end of the year, look about and reflect about how your word shaped your growth!
